The Shoe Trade.

The New York Tribune savs :- "About the only business doing in the boot and shoe trade is that of collecting. Ohio pays quite promptbehindhand. The bad condition of the Western roads, and the heavy rains which have interfered with the movements of the produce, are assigned as causes for non-payment. Our market at present is poorly supplied with prime seasonable goods; but common descriptions are plenty. At the East most of the manufacturers are doing as much as they were at this time last year, and judging from the indications there will be a good stock in market upon the opening of the Fall season. The number of hands in Massachusetts has been much reduced by immigration to the West, and within a few weeks wages have been been raised by concerted strikes about 12 to 15 per cent. There is more inquiry for shipment to California, though with little going forward.

The Season and the Crops.

Farmers from different sections of Central New York say that all descriptions of crops there are promising. Grass is heavy, and unless injured by the long continued rains, and farmers prevented by the same cause from securing it in a proper and seasonable manner, the yield will be a most abundant one. Wheat, Rye and Corn are all looking well. It is too early yet to judge much of Spring Wheat or Potatoes. Per contra, our advices from the West-are, that the lands in Indiana, Illinois, Iowa, Wiscon- Office in Exchange Block, King street. sin and Minnesota, have been so long and so extensively submerged as to entirely destroy the Corn crop, and the Wheat is ruinously injured.
